5.—The grave of Father Leturdu, late Pro-prefect of the mission, was violated, and the marble placed upon the grave taken away. Here we have an almost direct conflict of testimony, and seeing the gravity of the issue involved, it is eminefully desirable, indeed it is incumbent on the parties concerned, to have the exact truth elicited. In the statement first published, the desecration was said to have been the work of a mob, and i was not suggested that the Authorities were implicated in the crime. In the last statement of the Catholic Register it is distinctly stated that the Authorities were at all events of poison. So far as we are aware, the procognitant of the melting down of a copper figure taken from the cemetery. mony before us, it is impossible to pronounce definitely on the truth or falsehood of the charge made, but it may be useful to examine the evidence and see in what direction it points. This, bowever, is immaterial; there is no doubt as to the published the proclamation without note or place intended to be designated. The Chinese statement then goes on to say that the | watch should be kept on the vernacular pacometery " was accidentally slightly damaged | pers, and that any incitoment to disorder or by some grass-cutters who were in the habit of frequenting it." This physic is peculiar and sounds like a suphemism. It might cover a good deal. We should like to have a categorical description of the damage which is said to have been slight and to have been caused accidentally. We are next told that "Protection has now been extended to the place by the Civil and Military Authorities, who have repaired the damage and restored the Cemetery to its former condition, secrating the ground." Here we have what may be taken as an admission that the state of affairs was such that Civil and Military protection was required for the cemetery, and that it was thought necessary to issue proplemations on the subject. The damage may, of course, have been accidental and slight, and the taking of the extraordinary precautions referred to may have been the outcome merely of a desire to prevent even the possibility of any outrage being committed. The Chinese statement was a reply to the first and vaguer from Antwerp and Bordeaux, left Saigon for charge, and if the matter rested there they this port yesterday afternoon. might be considered entitled to the benefit definite charge of the Catholic Register, which still remains to be auswered.
